

American Psychosomatic Society
presents:

OPEN SCIENCE

In the age of the replicability and reproducibility crisis, practicing and promoting open science is a critical step to producing sound research. However, many who wish to engage in open science find the process unclear and intimidating. This workshop is designed for all newcomers to the open science movement - grad students, senior researchers, and research staff.

Speakers: Neil Lewis, Maryann Martone, & Aidan Wright, with Co-Chairs Janet Tomiyama, Peggy Zoccola, Matthew Zawadzki, & LaBarron Hill
